Each Legal Eagle court reporter is materially aware of the duties and rules involving state and federal proceedings in South Carolina and North Carolina. The court reporters scheduled by Legal Eagle for attorneys and law firms appear on time and are available for many different types of proceedings, including:

- Depositions
- Video Depositions
- Court Hearings
- Government Meetings
- Civil Service Proceeding
- Tax Assessment Proceeding
- Workers Compensation Hearing
- Arbitration Proceeding
- HOA: Association Meeting
- Trade Groups, Clubs, Associations
- Other Official Proceeding

REALTIME COURT REPORTING

RealTime Court Reporting converts the spoken word into text that can be read, streamed, broadcast, searched, and archived almost immediately. This service will give attorneys and the court instantaneous access to the testimony being given in a deposition or court proceeding.

Below are some additional advantages when using RealTime court reporting:

- Legal teams can easily search the RealTime feed for keywords while the deposition is ongoing.
- Attorneys can quote verbatim testimony back to a witness. For example, “Well, but two questions ago you said...”
- Reports can be quickly created for review during adjournment allowing the legal team to adjust questioning plans on the fly.
- Quick marks are able to be added by pressing the space bar. The quick marks can then be searched and testimony quickly reviewed after the deposition.

Whether you require the services of a qualified court reporter for work related to a legal matter or are utilizing their services for government, trade associations, or nonprofit meetings, Legal Eagle is here to help.
